THE K. OF P. CONCERT.

The Knights of Pythias hall was filled Thursday evening with an audience which enjoyed to the fullest extent the fine program furnished by the U. S. C. Glee Club. This is an organization of a dozen young men with first rate musical talent, while a few of the members have good dramatic ability. The choruses were well chosen and excellently rendered and the same may be said of the violin solo and the work of the comedian, which convulsed the audience. Every number was encored, the singers and performers responding generously. Mr. Tuttle, the reader, was kept away by illness, but otherwise the program left nothing to be regretted.

THE FOUNTAIN FUND TEA.

Under the management of the civics committee of the Tuesday Afternoon club will be held Tuesday, May 4th, at the home of Mrs. C. F. Parker, on Central avenue.

The Philanthropic committee will be on hand with their sewing this week, and don't forget to bring your thimble.

Everybody invited. Bring your friends.

CHAPTER L CONVENED.

Chapter L, P. E. O., met at the home of Mrs. Chase on Fourth street Monday afternoon to discuss year books and to hear the report from the state convention recently held in Pasadena. A guest was Miss Bessie Brainiard of Fayette, Idaho, who is stopping at the Sanatarium.

A SPELLING BEE AND OTHER THINGS AT THE SKATING RINK.

There was a real old fashioned country village time at the skating rink last Saturday evening which produced a good deal of sport and gave Master Hill McGillis a boost in his efforts to secure a free trip somewhere at the exepnse of the Los Angeles Examiner.

The affair started off with a brace of selections played by the Boys' Orchestra under the direction of their energetic leader, Earl B. Valentine. The boys covered themselves with glory as usual. Miss Lillian Shropshire gave a reading which was received with hearty applause. Then "Col." Sydney Dell announced the object of the meeting and incidentally paid his tribute to the Hearst newspapers. Mrs. T. W. Doyle and Mr. E. D. Goode, as captains of the respective sides, lined their supporters up on the two sides of the building, Mrs. Mary O. Ryan with spelling book in hand, mounted a dry goods box and the trouble began. There were fifteen on each side when the spelling started, but bad spells proved so epidemic that in five minutes there were a bare half dozen left on either side. Among the famous spellers ranged under the captaincy of Mrs. Doyle, were her daughter, Miss Lizzie Doyle, Mr. Sydney Dell, Edgar Leavitt, Esq. and others. Holding the fort with Mr. Goode were Mr. John Doyle, Mr. Muhleman, Mr. T. W. Doyle, Mr. J. C. Sherer and others. They did not hold it very long, however; the redoutable captain was bowled out early in the game and the rest on his side followed quickly. Mrs. Doyle won easily with three or four sturdy spellers to spare. Then when it came to spelling down among themselves, Mrs. Doyle and Miss Lizzie Doyle were left in solitary glory among the mangled remains of those doughty orthographic warriors of the bloodless field, Messrs. Dell and Leavitt who went down with colors flying breathing threatenings and slaughter against the man who made the dictionary.

After the spelling there was a beauty contest and a contest for the prize offered for the homeliest man, both of which caused considerable sport, the former in particular adding many votes to the credit of the energetic youth who was being boosted. There was a good attendance.

PUPILS RECITAL.

A very pretty and interesting affair was the piano recital given by the pupils of Miss Ina Whitaker on Wednesday evening at the Guild hall which was gracefully decorated with Chinese lanterns on the porch and masses of beautiful flowers and greenery on the stage.

A highly artistic program of difficult music was rendered entirely from memory, and the performance reflects great credit on the youthful players and their teacher, Paderewski's minuet, and the witches dance by Macdowell deserving special mention.

Julius Kranz delighted the audience with two well-chosen violin solos, responding graciously to an enthusiastic encore.

Two little boys in white who distributed the programs and presented the bouquets created a picturesque effect and caused much amusement. The program is as follows:

A GOOD SALE.

We learn that a lot 200x390 feet on the northwest corner of Brand boulevard and First street has been sold to Dr. Madison B. Jones of Los Angeles. It is understood that the price realized was $5000 or more. The sale was made by Mr. James Wyvill of Casa Verdugo.

It is reported that the Canfield property on Kenneth road recently sold to a Mr. Kellar is to be converted into a health resort modeled after Muldoon's celebrated farm near New York City, where a strict attention to diet and exercise accomplishes wonders in building up overworked nerve tissues. We hope to be able to confirm this report later as an establishedment of this kind would be a very desirable accession to the neighborhood.

"THE VILLAGE POSTOFFICE"—CHANGE OF HALL AND DATE.

This play to be given by the ladies of St. Mark's church will be presented on May 18th only, and at the new opera house in Filger's block, instead of at Guild hall.

W. C. T. U. COLUMN.

The delegates have returned from the county convention at Long Beach. Those who were in attendance were Mesdames Gaylord, Musser, Harn, Fitch, Neal, Fleming, Wells and Overton. Mrs. Francis Davenport, county corresponding secretary, reported the total membership in the county 2631 active with 250 honorary. Twelve new unions and three new young people's branches were organized the last year making a total of 71 unions.

On Wednesday afternoon there was an open air meeting on the pier, conducted by our president, who is co-superintendent of that department. The march to the sea with the rally cries and songs gathered a crowd of about three hundred who listened to an able address by the state president, Mrs. Griffith.

Music was furnished during the convention by the ladies' quartet of Long Beach and the A. M. E. choir of Los Angeles. Rev. Patterson, Mrs. Laura Carter and others. Thursday afternoon at 4 p. m. PENNY WHIST.

Plenty of fun playing penny whist Monday night at the Country Club house when the ladies on the director's board for the "Maids and Matrons" acted as hostesses for the members. The ladies played a spirited game for score cards then chose their partners. Hearts were trumps and every score won cost the winner a penny, which at times semed to have an appalling way of doubling and redoubling. Refreshments consisted of home-made cakes and coffee and cost ten cents, the money to be used as a payment on a very necessary accessory to the billiard-room, which has heretofore been enjoyed through the courtesy of a charter member. Decorations were tastefully displayed and consisted of quantities of exquisite roses.

HOO-DOO BANQUET.

Mr. and Mrs. E. A. McCombs on Friday night entertained for the Hoo-Doos at their pretty home on Mary street. Mrs. Lesanlnier of Los Angeles was a guest. The rooms were fragrant with roses and soft red lights were used. The score cards were black and the games unusually spirited. Later a banquet was served in the dining room, pretty with red light. Red carnations graced mantle, sideboard and made a lovely center piece for the long table. Places were marked with tiny red-fringed bonbon baskets. The hilarity and the banquet were equally great. There were sixteen covers. The next meeting occurs at the home of Prof. and Mrs. A. W. Tower.

ANNUAL MEETING ONE OF PLEASURE.

The annual meeting held on Tuesday night in Guild hall for St. Mark's Mission was most pleasant. Officers for the ensuing year were elected thus: Warden, Edgar W. Pack; secretary, Prosser Penn; treasurer, J. E. Whitaker. Delegates to the convention soon to transpire in Los Angeles are Dr. D. W. Hunt, Walter Penn, Reginald Whitaker, J. F. McIntyre, and C. Grist. At the close of the business session there was a conversational hour which proved thoroughly enjoyable and during its progress light refreshments were served.

CARD OF THANKS.

I desire hereby to give my heartfelt thanks to the many friends whose words of sympathy and acts of kindness have done so much to help me bear the great sorrow that has come to me by the loss of my beloved wife.

T. W. WATSON.

Rev. S. W. Van Horn and Mrs. Van Horn, of Osaka, Japan, Presbyterian missionaries, visited over night with Edgar Leavitt and family.

NEW BUILDINGS.

Shook Brothers are building on Third street west of Central avenue, for M. P. Harrison, a $2800 residence. They are also constructing a five-room cottage for Mr. Theodore Hopping at Fifth and Columbus, to cost about $1000. The same contractors have just finished a $300 barn for Mr. H. W. Potter on Central avenue near Riverdale drive, and are starting on a residence for the same owner which will cost $3500.

The following are among the building permits issued during the week: W. W. Chapman, Sixth street, residence costing $1000; Sarah J. Farrow, Doran street near Center, residence costing $1950; T. M. Bunn, Doran near Central, residence costing $2220; Mrs. Nettie Hoffman, 215 E. Third street, residence costing $1000.

The pavilion being erected at the corner of Fourth street and Glendale avenue is going up rapidly. It is forty feet square surmounted by a flag pole running up from the center of the roof. The plan shows that it will be excellently adapted for the purpose in view, that of providing a rest place for strangers and others. There will be an enclosed space in the center which it is expected will be utilized as lunch room. A band stand will occupy one corner and it is proposed to give free concerts from time to time. An ample number of seats will be provided for the visitors who are coming in increasing numbers daily, so that the prospect is that Glendale will no longer lay itself open to the accusation of being inhospitable and careless of the comfort of the strangers in our midst.

Glendale, Cal., April 27, 1909.

Editor GLENDALE NEWS:

Dear Sir: I desire through the columns of the NEWS to thank my many friends for their loyal support in the race I am making in the Examiner contest. Words express in part only my appreciation for their hearty response to the spelling bee given for my benefit. The entertainment gave me over twelve thousand votes and I am under special obligations to the following friends: The Firemen's Athletic club for free use of hall, Messrs. Pack & Shaver for seats furnished, Mr. Sherer, Mrs. Ryan, Mrs. Doyle, Mr. Goode, Mr. and Mrs. Dell, Mr. and Mrs. Emery, Mr. Remsburgh, Miss Lillian Shropshire, Mr. Grist, the Glendale Orchestra, and Mr. Silverwood of Los Angeles. If successful in securing this trip I promise to boost Glendale all I possibly can. In fact will talk Glendale for breakfast, dinner and supper. Please bear in mind, however, that this race is no easy task, and I am not yet sure of success. Should I fail I will know that I have done the very best I could. I have but two more days in which to work.

Sincerely yours,
HILL McGILLIS.

FUNERAL OF MRS. T. W. WATSON.

Funeral services over the remains of Mrs. T. W. Watson, wife of the president of the Glendale City Board of Trustees, were held at the Methodist church last Saturday afternoon at two o'clock. The church was filled with friends and neighbors gathered to testify by their presence to the esteem in which the deceased was held. The tribute of flowers was profuse and the numerous bouquets and set pieces were banked several deep around the altar. The words spoken by Rev. Humphreys were an appropriate and appreciative tribute to the virtues of the deceased and full of comfort for the stricken husband and other mourners. The city trustees had requested that business places close their doors from two to three o'clock as a tribute of sympathy to Mr. Watson, and the request was very generally complied with. A large procession followed the remains to their last resting place at Grand View cemetery.

TUESDAY AFTERNOON CLUB.

After a spirited business meeting the club listened to an interesting and seasonable talk along parliamentary lines in general and nominations and elections in particular. Following this was the critics report and then Miss Penn assumed the floor for the literary part of the afternoon, giving a very interesting paper on the poet Tennyson. After this Mrs Wessels gave two solo numbers, singing Tennyson's songs, "The Brook" and "Crossing the Bar." They were beautifully rendered and evoked much applause.

BUSINESS ON THE SALT LAKE ROAD.

From the fact that for so long a time the Salt Lake Company did not have an agent located in Glendale it might be inferred that the business did not warrant it. This idea is easily dispelled by the statement of the fact that during the month of April just ending the freight bills footed up a total of about $3000. This includes something like fifty carloads of oranges and lemons, forty of lumber, several carloads of shooks, lime, fertilizer, grain, etc., and two of household furniture. It is probable that the company appreciates the growth and importance of this community now as they never did before and improvements to its property and in the service may reasonably be expected in the near future.

Grand Pavilion Concert

The committee in charge have decided to offer prizes of $3.00, $2.00 and $1.00 to the person turning in the most money from the sale of tickets for the Grand Concert for the benefit of the new Pavilion building on Fourth street and Glendale avenue. GLENDALE, CAL., MAY 1, 1909

The Artesia News accuses Supervisor Eldridge of being a "Nature Fakir" because he claims that fifteen cows at the county farm produce 125 gallons of milk per day. We accept the Artesian's classification without question. And Mr. Eldridge in all kindness should be taken out into the woodshed and reminded that there are four quarts in a gallon.

A NEWS subscriber came in the other day and cancelled her subscription for the rather unique reason that her neighbors persist in coming in Sunday mornings to borrow the paper. If the "neighbors" alluded to will send in an affidavit to the effect that they cannot afford to pay twelve and a half cents a month for the local paper, we will cheerfully put them on the free list and charge it to "Charity."

REGARDING ASTEROIDS.

An error crept into our scientific article by "X-Ray," last week for which our esteemed contributor is in no way responsible. The statement as he wrote it was that "up to the present time over six hundred of these little worlds have been identified." The printer without any astronomical authority reduced the number to two hundred. Astronomers and others please take notice.

The honors paid to the officers of the Japanese cruisers by Los Angeles and Pasadena, particularly such speeches as were made by President Baer of Occidental college and others, will be of great value in removing the impression naturally prevalent in eastern states, that the people of California are hostile to the Japanese. The country needed just such an object lesson to prove that a noisy minority in San Francisco does not constitute "the people of California," nor represent them on any public question.

Professor Somebody in Chicago the other day expressed the sapient opinion that the people of the present are too good to feel any longer the necessity of having any religion. Now comes Prof. J. T. Goode of the same city who in a communication to the Bank Clerks' Association makes the harrowing prophecy that Niagara Falls will run dry in about three thousand years. We should feel very badly about this were there not compensation in the hope that the Chicago professors will dry up about the same time.

The recent legislature passed a few very good laws. Among these is the one which makes unlawful the selling of liquor outside of incorporated cities within a mile and a half of any college at which there is an enrollment of 1000 or more. The law was passed with the express purpose of protecting the Stanford university where during last year a small minority of the students caused a great deal of trouble to the faculty and disgraced themselves more or less by their patronage of the saloons in the vicinity. There are two classes of citizens who particularly need protection against themselves from the evils of strong drink; these are the veterans in our soldiers' homes and the youth in public institutions, away from the restraints of home and parents, and the law referred to will no doubt have a good effect.

A reecnt decision by Judge Houser in the Superior Court of Los Angeles is to the effect that the buyer of oil stock, mining stock or other similar security has the right when investing to rely implicitly upon the representations of the selling agent, and if these are found to be false, he can recover damages. This is an excellent decision in so far as it may make it possible to punish some promotion fakirs, but as far as giving any protection to the people is concerned, we doubt its efficacy. It may prevent deliberate attempts at swindling, but it will not prevent people from investing money in worthless stock. By far the largest proportion of worthless stock is sold by agents who themselves believe in its worth and it is doubtful if any law will prevent people of this class from offering for sale or deter credulous purchasers from buying in the future as in the past.

QUIET BUT EFFICIENT.

We do not hear much about President Taft. He has been president for nearly two months and nothing startling has emanated from the White House during that time. At the same time evidence leaks out now and then which indicates that he is attending to the duties of his exalted position, but without brass band accompaniment. For instance he had a conference the other day with Mr. Samuel Gompers and other representatives of organized labor and he is reported to have said things which made it impossible for his callers to misunderstand him. He told them that his administration will support the injunction as a principle of law and justice. It is further reported that this expression was couched in language that while lacking nothing in force, commanded the respect of his auditors who left his presence with a higher feeling of respect for the president of the United States than they ever had before.

AN ANNIVERSARY.

With this number the GLENDALE NEWS enters upon Volume V. The paper has been in existence four years. It has passed safely through the vicissitudes of infancy and callow youth, and may be said to have attained to the years of maturity. It has been under the present management for over two years and has kept pace with the growth and development of the community that it represents. It has been fair and will so continue to be. It has stood in the past and expects in the future to stand for those things that tend to forward the interests of the whole community and to uplift the individual. In doing this we have sometimes opposed the ideas of persons as conscientious as ourselves, because it was impossible for us to agree with their point of view. We expect to do this again occasionally as long as we control the paper; but as we are willing to give others credit for being influenced by honesty of motive when at times they differ from us, we ask the same liberality toward ourselves. We have not supported every measure that bore the label of "Reform," because the label did not satisfy us; nor shall we always do so in the future, because Humbug masquerading as Reform, stalks abroad in the land while the real article does its work more effectually in many cases out of the limelight and remote from the brass band. The GLENDALE NEWS stands for a united harmonious community and in entering upon its fifth year of useful service, bespeaks the assistance and co-operation of the people of this section regardless of any sectional lines, official or imaginary.

LAWS AND JURIES.

A. E. Cronenwett was recently tried at Monrovia on a charge of conducting a place where liquor was sold contrary to the ordinance of the city. The jury disagreed, being about equally divided on the question of guilty or not guilty. The principal witnesses against the accused were two detectives employed by the city council to get the evidence, who testified among other things that they had been paid $248.40 for their services. In the same issue of the Messenger we note that President Scarborough of the board of trustees makes some caustic criticisms of citizens, particularly business men who will not perform jury duty. These two facts in the experience of our sister city are commended to such of our people as imagine that the passage of laws purporting to be "Reforms" is not the one essential duty of good citizenship.

Without presuming to judge whether the man accused in this instance was guilty or not, it does seem from a distance as if a jury of intelligent men should have rendered a verdict of some kind. We are reminded in this connection of California's experience with the Sunday law some years ago in Los Angeles. It was invoked in the case of a liquor dealer who was accused of keeping his saloon open on Sunday and was undoubtedly guilty, but a jury acquitted him. When the attempt was made to show that jurymen in the case were inspired by religious prejudice, it was demonstrated in reply to that assertion that among its members were a Jew, a Catholic and a fair proportion of other churchmen and freethinkers.

OVERWORKED.

One of our most liberal business men remarked the other day in reference to a proposed entertainment, Well, I'll be glad to patronize it if they won't ask the business men of the town to pay for their advertising." Our business men with but few exceptions are liberal and public-spirited and appreciate the fact that the man who tries to sell goods without advertising in the community where his patrons are found, is a misfit in the business world. But they naturally expect to have a reasonable promise of results before investing their money in printer's ink. Almost daily, advertising schemes of one sort or another are presented to them, and the most of them have but little merit to support them. While the fact that we are so near Los Angeles is one of our most valuable assets, it has its disadvantages. Whenever a new scheme is incubated in the fertile brain of a promotor in that city, for the working of the public through agents, one of the first fields that they work is that of the suburban towns nearby. In half an hour after he leaves headquarters the solicitor is presenting his "scheme" to our Glendale business man, who whether likely to be interested in it or not, feels in courtesy bound to give its consideration some of his time if nothing more valuable. But these agents are not so difficult to deal with as his fellow townsmen (of all ages and both sexes) who go to him with a request, at times almost a demand, for "just a little card in our program." If he has a reputation of being "liberal," he is required almost daily to pay for the privilege of maintaining that reputation. He feels many a time that the thing is imposition, but he throws up his hands and delivers. His natural desire to please the public leads him to say "yes," he smiles and looks as pleasant as possible and when he can safely do so, goes into the back yard and kicks the store cat.

We believe that the most of our business men admit the indisputable fact that the local paper is their natural and best advertising medium and desire to patronize it; but every other form of advertising which they feel "compelled" to support interferes more or less with their ability to do this. No other advertising medium, however exclusive or high priced, from dodger to magazine, enters into the same class with the local paper, which is looked upon not only by the people of the community in which it circulates, but by outsiders, as the mouthpiece and index of its town.

The business men of Glendale are being overworked by rustlers for advertising in all sorts of irregular ways—in the classic language of the street, "give them a rest."

A TEXAS "HERO."

The state legislature of Texas at its recent session passed resolutions honoring the last survivor of the battle of San Jacinto at which the Americans met and defeated a Mexican army and gained Texan independence. Regarding the Star State's position, the cause of the Texans could not be shown to be entirely "holy," if we cared to make an analysis of the controlling motives of the participants in that contest, but as it gave us the biggest state in the Union, it does not behove us at this late day to question the means that produced satisfactory results. But the quality of the tough old survivor of that fight seems to be not of just the fiber that heroes ought to be made of. With the loquacity of age, he tells a reporter the story of the battle and the part he played therein. And the recital is scarcely such as one would wish to see told in the "Ladies' Home Companion" or the "Heroes of History" series for youth. It seems that the young soldier had been wounded and a companion had dropped out of the ranks to assist him. The enemy had passed by with the exception of two stragglers who ran toward the two Americans, holding up their hands and in their terror begging to be allowed the privilege of surrendering. The survivor of this historic affair tells in these words the result:

"I had no pistol and told my companion to shoot them, as we didn't want to be bothered with prisoners. He wouldn't do it, saying he could not shoot a man who wanted to surrender. I took the pistol from him, shot one of the Mexicans dead and the other ran away."

Nearly seventy years have passed since this tragic event occurred and yet apparently the perpetrator of that cowardly murder on the Texan plains has not allowed the mellowing touch of time to interfere with his enjoyment of the recollection of the crime. While in time of battle these niceties of etiquette prevailing in the drawing room are usually dispensed with by excited participants, yet even in war a civilized being is not permitted by the unwritten rules of the dreadful game to take the life of any enemy who offers in good faith to surrender. It appears to us at this safe distance that the legislature of the state of Texas is rather hard pressed for heroes. The sole merit of the hoary old survivor of the battle of San Jacinto seems to consist in the distinction conferred upon him by Father Time, in passing him by while unnumbered thousands of his fellows have gone the way of all the world. Not much of the animal has been eradicated from our natures by the imperfect leven of our civilization, but let us fervently hope that the youth of our land have in the slow development of the divinity within us arrived at that point which enables them to see that "heroes" are not made of such poor stuff as is the survivor of the battle of San Jacinto. It will be better for the future of the world if their ideal of a hero is modelled more nearly in harmony with that of the poet, Cowper, as he wrote, "I would not count upon my list of friends the man who needlessly sets foot upon a worm."

Death of Mrs. Wardner

As we go to press we learn of the death of Mrs. Fannie Wardner, wife of E. B. Wardner, until a few weeks ago residing for a year or so past on Fifth street near the High School. Mrs. Wardner had been in poor health for a considerable time. Funeral services will be held at the Pulliam undertaking parlors Monday next at 1 p. m.

SHOWER AND LUNCHEON.

A coterie of friends of Mrs. Hattie Brewster of Glendale avenue, upon learning that she and her mother, Madame M. Moliere, intended leaving for New York, Thursday evening, where Mrs. Brewster is to be married soon, assembled at G. A. R. hall Wednesday and while tendering Mrs. Brewster and Madame Moliere a farewell luncheon, took occasion to give Mrs. Brewster a handkerchief shower.

Mrs. Edward M. Lynch and Mrs. Joseph H. Webster kept their telephones busy extended invitations to a large circle of friends of the charming honore and her mother, to attend the luncheon. The long tables of the new banquet hall were artistically decorated in roses and orange blossoms, while a dainty bountonnese of Cecil Bruner buds served as favors. Mrs. Robert Hopkins and Mrs. W. C. Wattles arranged a large parachute of vari-colored papers, which was suspended above Mrs. Brewster's place at the luncheon. Mrs. A. W. Collins, president of the Thursday Afternoon Club, of which Mrs. Brewster is a member, preceded the battle of roses which followed the luncheon with a few felicitous remarks.

Mrs. A. O. Conrad, having twined a wreath of orange blossoms on Mrs. Brwster's head, which preserved in paraffine will grace the bride' stresses, in New York City, thus bringing to Mrs. Brewster's memory the happy event of Wednesday.

At a given signal the large pink bow that fastened the parachute was loosened and scores of handsome handkerchiefs rained upon the unsuspecting head of Mrs. Brewster. Nestling among the pretty handkerchiefs was a white kid slipper filled with orange blossoms suggested of the motto of the shower. Mrs. Hal H. Davenport and Mrs. C. M. Lunn presented Mrs. Brewster a handsome traveling bag.

This farewell luncheon also proved a happy reminder that Madame Moliere was also celebrating her seventieth anniversary and many were the happy congratulations she received.

TROPICO METHODIST NOTES.

By Rev. J. H. Henry.

The attendance at our Sunday school last Sunday morning was not quite up to the average, but both teacher and scholars manifested unusual interest in the study of the lesson. The school is making a fine average in all its work. The sermon at 11 o'clock was based on Deuteronomy 6th chapter, 6th to 9th verses and the theme was the duty of [illegible] training. The discourse was listened to with marked attention.

We expect to have Rev. Charles E. Locke of the First Methodist church of Los Angeles to deliver a great lecture in the Tropico Methodist church on Monday evening, May 17th. It will be a rare treat to our community.

The Epworth League of this church attended the league rally which was held in Burbank last Friday evening. A large delegation from the local church was in attendance.

The Ladies' Aid Society of this church will hold an all-day meeting at the home of Mrs. C. C. Chandler on Cypress avenue next Tuesday. Much business of interest will be transacted and a good attendance is hoped for.

Last Sunday evening the Epworth League service led by Rev. McAdams was taken up with great zeal, many taking part in the different phases of the subject.

N. P. BANKS RECEPTION.

The officers and members of N. P. Banks Woman's Relief Corps tendered Mrs. Alice M. Gillett of Los Gatos, Past Department President of California and Nevada, a reception at G. A. R. hall, Friday afternoon. Other prominent guests included Mrs. Martha Chapin, Department Patriotic Instructor; Mrs. Lizzie Belle Cross, Department President of the Daughters of eVterans, and Mrs. Alice A. Fitch of Los Angeles. Mrs. Tessa Stine, Corps President, presented Mrs. Gillett a handsome spoon, suitably inscribed as to render the occasion a memorable one to Mrs. Gillett. The guests and hostesses assembled in the banquet hall which with its handsome furnishings made brighter with myriads of dainty wild flowers, was inviting to all, with a generous arrangement of dainty viands, which were discussed amid speeches of patriotism relative to our flag, our country and its many institutions of patriotism. Ere the ladies departed the salute to the flag was given.

SUGGESTIVE QUESTIONS ON THE SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

By Rev. Dr. Linscott for the International Newspaper Bible Study Club.

May 2nd, 1909.

(Copyright, 1908, by Rev. T. S. Linscott, D.D.)

Paul's First Missionary Journey.—Cyprus. Acts xiii:1-12.

Golden Text—Go ye into all the world, and preach the gospel to every creature. Mark 16:15.

Verse 1—Where was Antioch?

What constituted a Christian church, then, and now?

What was the difference between prophets and teachers?

Verse 2—What is meant by "ministered to the Lord?"

What mental, physical or spiritual benefits are there derived from fasting?

How long should a person abstain from food, in order to constitute a Christian fast?

What right has the present day Protestant church to discontinue the practice of fasting?

When would the ears of a company of godly men, be most sensitive to the voice of God, during a feast or a fast?

Was there any connection between their ministering and fasting, and the Holy Spirit speaking to them?

Is the Holy Spirit apt to speak to those who are not intensely engaged in the cause of God?

What is necessary in order to cultivate an ear for the voice of God?

Should we all be "called" of God, before undertaking any kind of work?

Verse 3—Ought the church today to send out missionaries to new districts, and to heathen countries?

If it is the duty of the church to send out missionaries, is it, or not, the duty of every person, whether a member of the church or not, to help support them? (This question must be answered in writing by members of the club.)

Why did they fast and pray, before sending Paul and Barnabas on their mission?

Would it be a help to each local church today, to fast and pray before each missionary meeting?

Do you think the women took part in this service, and whether or not, what reason is there to debar women from any of the church's work?

Verse 4—Is it possible or practical, to be guided in every journey we take, and in all else by the Holy Spirit?

Should a pastor ever take charge of a new church, without being directed to do so, by the Holy Spirit?

Please point out on the map, in your Bible, where Seleucia, Salamis and Cyprus are situated.

Were they consciously, or unconsciously, directed by God the Holy Spirit, all along their journey?

Verse 5—Should men and women, in the ordinary walks of life, be as faithful in preaching the gospel, or testifying for Jesus, wherever they may be, as Paul and Barnabas were?

Verse 6—How many places mentioned in this lesson, are situated on the Island of Cyprus? (See your map.)

What motives had likely induced this man Elymas, to claim to be a prophet?

Verses 7-8.—How do you account for a man being so bad, as to try to prevent another man from serving the true God?

Verses 9-12.—Are good men justified in rebuking bad men with vehemence, when they would stop a work of love and mercy?

Is it possible for a bad man to escape the just penalty of his sins?

Lesson for Sunday, May 9th, 1909. Paul's First Missionary Journey, — Antioch in Pisidia. Acts xiii:13-52.

THE ALASKA-YUKON-PACIFIC EXPOSITION.

This exposition is to be opened on June first and we have assurances that never before has any similar exposition been in such a satisfactory condition as regards completion at a similar period before the date of opening. The group of United States buildings is to be completed by May 1st. One of the most beautiful buildings on the grounds will be California's state building; the exterior of the structures is about completed and the finishers are at work on the interior. The managers promise to have the exhibit fully installed before the date of opening. Sept. 9th has been set aside as California Day and at that time Governor Gillette and other officials of our state will be present together with all sorts of organizations and societies which altogether promise to make it one of the biggest days of the fair. The California Promotion committee goes up to Seattle on a special car on June 14th, when they will take possession of the exhibition.

Eleven miles of walks and streets have been paved with asphalt, and the landscape gardners are at work beautifying the grounds. Among other flowers and shrubs being used are twelve carloads of rhododendrons, the Washington state flower. A particularly interesting exhibit in the government department will be the original documents in the trial of Aaron Burr for treason in 1807, taken from the archives of the Federal Court at Richmond, Va. This exhibit comprises sixty separate documents and is of immense historic value. One of the special days which will be of great interest will be June 24th, which has been set apart as G. A. R. day, which will no doubt be one of the greatest of the special days in the history of the exposition.

A Queer Chinese Notion.

One of the beliefs which the Chinese are slowly unlearning is that foreigners use the eyes and hearts of Chinamen in compounding rare and costly drugs which are valuable aids in magic. Medicine and magic have for ages gone hand in hand in China, just as they once did in Europe. Ignorant Chinamen therefore readily believe such tales. The use of eyes of Chinese by foreigners in metallurgy is described in a work called "A Deathblow to Corrupt Practices," published in 1870. According to this, when white Christians had charge of a funeral they drove all the relatives and friends from the house. Both eyeballs were then removed from the corpse, the orifices being filled with plaster. This was called "sealing the eyes for the western journey." By compounding these eyes with a hundred pounds of Chinese lead, this veracious chronicle continues, eight pounds of silver could be extracted from it. The sight organs of any other people were useless for this purpose.

Marine Rubber Chewers.

The sailor, taking a fine, new rubber band from the stationery display, began to chew it with vigorous enjoyment.

"What are you up to there?" snarled the druggist.

"Just rubber chewin'," said the sailor. "It's a habit with all us navy fellers. Keeps off gun headache.

"Of course you, a landlubber, don't know nothin' about it. But let me tell you, mate, when a sixteen inch gun goes off aboard ship the jar shatters winders, splits planks and brings your lower teeth up against your uppers like a straight left from old John L.

"The result is a gun headache—such a headache! But if you chew rubber in firing time it eases off the shock and you don't suffer none. I been chewin' it steady ever since Manila Bay."

"Rubber chewing—what a nasty habit," said the druggist.

"Rag chewin's worse," was the sailor's reply.—New Orleans Times-Democrat.

Lucky.

"Benoit, did you break the water bottle?"

"Yes, madame, but fortunately I broke it into only three pieces."

"Fortunately! How's that fortunate?"

"Oh, madame, when a thing breaks into many pieces it is so hard to pick them all up!"—Paris Journal.

The Producer.

"Does your husband play poker?"

"I don't know," answered young Mrs. Torkins. "From what I hear he simply sits up to the table and enjoys seeing other people contend for what he puts up."—Washington Star.

Information for the Inquiring Stranger and Others—Where and What It Is—A Bit of Its History and a Hint of Its Future

LOCATION.

Tropico joins the northern boundary of the City of Los Angeles, distant about five miles in a direct line from the court house in that city. Glendale adjoins Tropico on the north (the city limits six miles distant in an air line from the Los Angeles court house), while Casa Verdugo lies at the base of the mountains, at the end of the Pacific Electric car line north of and adjoining Glendale—with West and North Glendale practically a part of the same settlement—lying west of the Pacific Electric road.

The elevation of Glendale above sea level is six hundred feet, while Tropico is about 100 feet lower. Casa Verdugo is situated at the base of the mountain and from that point a trail runs to the summit, where the elevation is about 3800 feet.

Car Service.

The car service is excellent. On the west side of the city is the Pacific Electric line, cars running on half-hourly schedules between the depot at Sixth and Main streets, Los Angeles, and Glendale. The service on this line is unexcelled on any of the suburban lines connecting with Los Angeles, the actual running time is twenty-five minutes. Single fare 15 cents, round trips 25 cents; ten rides for one dollar; commutation rate 7 7-10 cents. On the east side of the city an electric car line has recently been completed connecting Glendale with Eagle Rock (two miles distant), and at that point connecting with the cars of the Los Angeles Electric railroad company to Los Angeles. Round trip fare between Glendale and Los Angeles by this route is 25 cents with transfer privileges in Los Angeles. The main line of the Southern Pacific company between Los Angeles and San Francisco passes through Tropico, which is the first station on the road north of Los Angeles. The San Pedro, Los Angeles and Salt Lake Railway company owns a steam road running through Tropico and Glendale to Verdugo Canon, two miles above Glendale. At present only freight traffic is handled on this line, but that is considerable, as Glendale has four packing houses where oranges and lemons are being handled all the year round and a great many car loads of these and of deciduous fruits leave the valley yearly by the Salt Lake company's line. That this line will soon be converted into an electric road is confidently expected.

Mail Service and Streets.

Free delivery of mail matter went into effect in Glendale and portions of Tropico on February 1st, when Glendale, for postal purposes, passed under control of the Los Angeles postoffice. This service is gradually being extended so as to take in every portion of the city and considerable of the contiguous territory.

Beginning at First street, which is near the city's north boundary, the numbered streets run east and west, the city limits on the south being halfway between Ninth and Tenth streets. Beginning at Adams street, the streets running north and south on the west are named in alphabetical order, the next west of Adams being Belmont, the next Cedar, etc., the last street so named being Orange street; next beyond which is Central avenue, the western boundary of the city.

The original townsite of Glendale (laid out in 1887), comprised the territory between Adams street and Mary street and between First and Seventh streets, and the most of the recent development of the city has been west of Adams street. (A street map is to be found in the back part of the book).

Schools.

Glendale has within the city limits two well equipped grammar schools, employing ten teachers, and just west of the city is the West Glendale school with three teachers. A new $60,000 Union High School is now being erected, the first High School building, having been outgrown. The faculty comprises six teachers. Tropico has a new grammar school building with six teachers.

Churches.

Glendale is well supplied with churches. The following denominations have places of worship here: Adventist, Baptist, Catholic, Christian, Episcopal, Methodist and Presbyterian.

Organizations.

Social and Fraternal organizations are well represented. Among the ladies clubs are the Tuesday Afternoon Club, the Maids and Matrons and the P. E. O.'s. The lodges meeting in Glendale are the Masons, Odd Fellows, K. of P., Foresters, Fraternal Brotherhood, Fraternal Union and Good Templars. The W. C. T. U. and various church societies are all growing in numbers and influence. The Glendale Country Club has a $12,000 club house, over a hundred members, and is an important factor in the social life of the city.

Population.

The population of Glendale City is about twenty-five hundred, while that of Tropico, West and North Glendale and Casa Verdugo combined is about the same, making a total of 5000 people within a radius of two and a half miles. This is increasing very rapidly, the number of new houses being erected all over this section indicating a doubling of this population within the next three years.

Historical.

Originally, under a grant from the crown of Spain given about the time of the revolutionary war, the Rancho San Rafael, comprising about three square leagues, became the property of the Verdugo family. Between 1858 and 1870 several large portions of it passed into the possession of Glassell, Childs, Hellman, Beaudry, Ross, Thom Hunter and others. Not much development of this section occurred until 1883 when Wright, Wicks, Watts, Hodgkins and others bought one or two large tracts and subdivided, bringing in settlers who rapidly made improvements, planting out large acreage to orchards and vineyards. In 1883, Messrs. Byram, Patterson and Phelon bought 126 acres of the Childs tract lying along the east side of what is now Glendale avenue, between First and Ninth streets. The price paid by them was $135 per acre and the land was nearly all in sage brush, with patches here and there that had been cleared and sowed to barley. They improved their holdings, selling several small tracts to others who came in and formed with them the nucleus of the Glendale of today. In 1886, while the great land "boom" prevailed in Southern California, the three men named and a few others, H. J. Crow for one (then owner of Lomita Park), brought into being the town of Glendale, a map of which was published in January, 1887. During the last named year the Terminal Railroad company (now the Salt Lake) built its road through Glendale to Verdugo Park. About the same time the Glendale Hotel (now Sanitarium) was built a weekly paper was started and for a few months Glendale grew rapidly. Then came the collapse of the boom—the speculators lost their money very generally, but the real home builders held on to their dealty, planted orchards, raised fruit and poultry and lived in hopes. In 1903 Messrs. Thom and Ross sold a large tract of land on the west side to L. C. Brand and H. E. Huntington and to develop that property the electric road, now a part of the Pacific Electric system, was built in 1904, being completed in July of that year, the occasion being celebrated by a grand barbecue of a half dozen beeves and exercises in the porch of the Glendale hotel building. The effect of the building of this road putting this section in close contact with Los Angeles, was immediate and from that time to this there has been a constant influx of home builders into this portion of the great San Fernando valley. The great growth of the City of Glendale, however, dates from the time of its incorporation, February 7th, 1906. Since that time twenty miles of streets have been improved by the petrolithic process, costing approximately $140,000, most of which has been paid for, there being only about $25,000 of bonds for this work outstanding. The city voted a bond issue of $5000 for a fire department(the bonds selling for about $6000) and has a brick fire building and complete apparatus for extinguishing fires. On Brand boulevard there is almost a solid street block of brick business structures, nearly all two stories, while on Glendale avenue and Fourth street three two-story brick blocks have been erected within the past six months.

Two of the roads to be built by the Los Angeles highway commission out of the bond issue of $3,500,000, pass through Glendale and when completed will put Glendale and Tropico on the route to be followed by the grand system of highways that is to lead from the mountains of San Bernardino county to the sea. The Owens river water system will be led through the San Fernando valley to Los Angeles, passing through this immediate section.

Advantages Claimed.

This portion of the San Fernando valley claims as its first asset, its close proximity to Los Angeles. It appeals to the home builder particularly on this account, as it affords him all the advantages of both city and country—only a little more than half an hour of time spans the distance between the city and the mountains. This fact appeals not only to the person of leisure but also to the tiller of the soil or the person who in any avenue of usefulness produces that which he needs to find a market for—and who realizes the immense advantages of finding that market near at hand. Another feature of this section which is not generally found, is its infinite variety. Within a limited radius there exists notable gradations of soil, climate, scenery. A portion is entirely frostless while the soil may be adapted to the cultivation of the citrus fruits, while another part not far removed may be subject to more or less frost with a soil where certain trees and crops will do well without irrigation. One portion of the valley may be protected from the ocean breezes while another is subject to it whenever it blows. But over all is the warmth of the southern sunshine and around it all the invigorating atmosphere of the semi-tropics—not the Italy of our dreams with a glorious past, but the California of today with a present of wonderful attainment and a future that is gilded with all the brightness that the optimist can mix in his colors.

Human at Least.

An American player who fulfilled several London engagements under the late Sir Henry Irving tells a story of a young man employed as the tragedian's dresser when Irving was the lessee of the Lyceum theater. The young fellow had been recommended for the place by Clarkson, the celebrated wigmaker. Irving was as exacting in matters of makeup as he was in everything else relating to stage equipment, and he succeeded in impressing Clarkson with a deep sense of responsibility.

Shortly after his entering upon his new duties Clarkson called upon his former employee. As Clarkson had noticed that he did not get as many orders for wigs from Irving as he formerly did, he had begun to suspect that the dresser was accountable.

"Are you making Sir Henry's wigs?" Clarkson demanded without preliminary.

"Sometimes."

"Do you call that a wig?" sneered the caller, pointing to an article on the dressing table. "Do you mean to tell me that you believe that thing looks at all like a wig?"

"No, sir, I don't," hotly replied the dresser, now considerably irritated, "but I do mean to say as how it looks like the 'air of the 'uman 'ead!"—St. Paul Pioneer Press.

Character of the Montenegrins.

Nowhere is love of country more intense than among the Montenegrins, to whom exile is the greatest of punishments. When Mr. W. J. Stillman was there in the seventies all the free men were away fighting, and he observed how, when a messenger was wanted, the official took a man out of the prison and sent him off, with no fear that he would not return. One such messenger was sent to Cattaro, in Austrian territory, with 3,000 florins for the bank, and duly came back. Another asked a Russian at Cattaro to intercede with Prince Nicholas for his release from prison. "But you are not in prison!" said the Russian. "Oh," said the man, "I have only come down for a load of skins for So-and-so, but I must go into prison again when I get back to Cetinje." One guard watched all the prisoners when they sunned themselves out of doors, and if he were called away a prisoner would take his rifle and do duty for the time.—London Chronicle.

Heard at Breakfast.

"I used to be a weather prophet in my home town," confided the new boarder as he speared a potato with his fork.

"Sh!" commented the comedian boarder laconically.

"Yes, and every time I look at that steak it reminds me of a winter's day."

"How so?"

"Cold and raw."

"Quite clever. How does the coffee strike you?"

"That reminds me of a November day—cloudy and unsettled."

"Good. And do you notice that the landlady is watching us?"

"Yes, and she reminds me of a March day."

"Tell us why."

"Because she is cold and stormy."

And the look that the landlady passed down to that end of the table would have congealed a redhot stove.—Chicago News.

Lincoln's Speeches and Writings.

Lincoln's great speeches are short, but how fit in expression, how packed with meaning! Take, for example, the one delivered to his friends on the eve of his departure for Washington. Like the second inaugural or the address at Gettysburg, it contains no superfluous word. Every one fits into place as perfectly as the carpenter's braces and timbers into the completed building.

As a writer, Mr. Lincoln was most painstaking. He sought always the simplest, shortest and best word. He knew that the simplest and shortest word usually is the best. The real secret of his greatness as a speaker and a writer, however, lay deeper. It was the supreme greatness of his soul which shone through his words that charmed and still charms the world.—J. A. Edgerton.

The Insanity Plea.

"Sir!" said the young woman, with what seemed to be indignation.

The young man looked embarrassed.

"Yes, I did kiss you," he admitted, "but I was impulsively insane."

"That means that a man would be a lunatic to kiss me?"

"Well, any man of discretion would be just crazy to kiss you."

This seemed to ease the strain, and, no jury being present to muddle affairs, a satisfactory verdict was reached.—Philadelphia Ledger.

Bank of Glendale

IT IS VERY EMBARRASSING

To a person presenting one of his neighbor's Los Angeles checks to one of our local banks and have payment refused. It is also very embarrassing to the banker, but he has no means of knowing if the check will be paid when presented at the bank on which it is drawn, and if returned unpaid as some of them are, it is still more embarrassing to get the money returned to the bank first paying it.

If your money is in your local bank, the banker knows the standing of your check which always receives the consideration to which it is entitled.

Charles Retts of Long Beach was entertained at the home of Joseph Marple on Park avenue, Saturday evening.

The members of the Christian church cleared about $25 at the box social which they gave in the G. A. R. hall recently.

Joseph H. Webster left last Friday evening for El Centro, where he will remain indefinitely to attend to real estate interests at that place.

Mr. and Mrs. James R. Maxwell of Park avenue visited at San Pedro Tuesday and enjoyed a visit aboard the Japanese battleships.

E. J. Morgan returned Wednesday from a brief visit to El Centro, where he was the guest of Daniel Webster and sons, Fred and Joseph H. Webster.

Z. Follette and family left for Pasadena Wednesday, where they will reside in the future, Mr. Follette having transferred his business interests to Pasadena.

Mr. and Mrs. George Ovemyer of South Pasadena, formerly of North Vernon, Ind., were the guests of Mrs. David H. Imler of Palm Villa the first of the week.

Mr. and Mrs. Bert Richardson and son Everett were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Richards of Los Angeles at the Creedmoor Gun Club last Sunday for dinner.

Miss Blanche Davenport of this place and Miss Lucile Pittman of North Glendale spent last Sunday with Miss Pittman's sister in Redlands. They returned to their homes Sunday evening on a late train.

Alfred Englehardt of Central avenue spent the past week in San Diego. Fred Englehardt, brother of Alfred Englehardt, of Kansas City, who has been visiting here, departed Wednesday for Oakland, where the will reside.

Mr. and Mrs. Black are entertaining Eastern friends at their home on Glendale avenue this week. During their stay here the friends were given several carriage rides through the valley and they are charmed with the beauty.

It was noticeable that this valley was almost stripped of Japanese boys last Tuesday. They swarmed like bees to Long Beach to get a glimpse at their country's battleships and also assist in the hearty welcome which was tendered them by the American people.

The Ladies' Aid of the Methodist church of this place will hold an all-day meeting at the home of Mrs. C. C. Chandler in Cypress avenue next Tuesday. At noon luncheon will be served, and during the afternoon a business meeting will be held.

Joseph Marple jr. of this place was a guest of honor at a banquet given by the Baraca class of the Long Beach Baptist church Tuesday evening of this week. Mr. Marple recently accepted a position to conduct the music of the Long Beach Baptist church, and up to the present time has given universal satisfaction.

An auto party which enjoyed last Sunday at Venice consisted of Mr. and Mrs. Hal Davenport, Mrs. H. A. Brewster, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Ballentyre and Dr. and Mrs. A. O. Conrad. At a late morning hour the party ate luncheon at the Davenport home on Glendale avenue after which they rode to the beach to enjoy some time by the wild sea waves.

Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Ballentyne have rented their home on Glendale avenue to eastern parties and have gone to Los Angeles. They will spend some time with their daughter, Mrs. Magee and family after which they will return to their old home in the East, where they will remain permanently. Mr. and Mrs. Ballentyne have lived here many years and are quite popular.

At the meeting of the Good Templars lodge this week it was unanimously decided to change the regular meeting night from Monday to Wednesday evening of each week. Several weeks ago the meeting night was changed from Friday to Monday evening, but after several meetings on Monday evening it was thought wise to change the meeting night to Wednesday.

Mrs. Hattie Brewster, who for the past several years has been a resident of this place and has lived on Glendale avenue, left Thursday morning on the 8 o'clock train in company with her mother, Mrs. Mollier, for New Orleans. A large party of Tropico and Glendale friends journeyed to the Arcade depot in Los Angeles to see this popular lady safely started on her journey and many were the well wishes afforded her.

The Epworth League of the Methodist church of this place attended a rally given by the Epworth League of Burbank at the Methodist church at Burbank yesterday evening. The members of the local league met at the church on Palmer avenue and from there went in a hay rack to the northern town. During the evening a pleasing program was rendered and several speakers of importance were heard.

Prof. W. A. Packard of Los Angeles, district organizer of the Fraternal Aid Association, was in Tropico this week with the object of installing a chapter of that association in this valley. Mr. Packard states that already a number of Glendale and Tropico people are members of the Los Angeles chapter, that these, along with a number of others who have promised to join soon, will probably be used as a charter list and that the chapter will doubtless be organized immediately in this valley.

A Child Study League was organized at the Tropico grammar school yesterday afternoon at 3 o'clock. Quite a large number of the mothers of the scholars were present and a most interesting time was experienced. Supt. Keppel of Los Angeles was present and gave an address. Child Study Leagues are being organized in all of the suburban towns and are proving to be the greatest helps alike for the scholar and teacher. For a long time these leagues have been working in Los Angeles with very great success.

Mrs. A. W. Collins, Mrs. E. M. Lynch, Mrs. A. O. Conrad and Mrs. Hal Davenport were in attendance at a recital given by the Miscellaneous Afternoon Club of Irwindale last Tuesday. The party left this place early in the morning and spent the forenoon and ate dinner at the home of Mrs. Davenport's parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. N. Lunn of that town. After dinner the ladies heard the recital to which four members from each of the Ladies' Afternoon clubs of the surrounding towns were invited. They report the affair as being very fine.

The local order of Good Templars entertained the Burbank I. O. G. T. at the G. A. R. hall last Monday evening. It was expected that the lodges from Merrill of Los Angeles and Pasadena would also have been present, but for some unavoidable reason they could not be here. During the early part of the evening a program was given by the members of the home lodge after which refreshments were served. The latter half of the evening was given entirely to playing games and singing. The local order expects to pay a visit to the Burbank lodge in the near future.

IMPORT JAPANESE WHITE OAK FOR RAILROAD CROSS-TIES.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 29.—The growing scarcity of American timber suitable for railroad ties has induced one of the largest Japanese importing companies to introduce Japanese white oak as a desirable foreign species to take the place of the American oak for railroad purposes. Several of the western roads have already purchased a large quantity of the Japanese white oak to be used in replacing worn-out ties along their rights of way.

The increasing cost of all railroad ties has naturally led the railroad companies to desire to prolong the life of the species of wood used, by preservative methods, and only recently an application was made to the United States forest service to conduct experiments at their Berkeley timber testing station to determine the value and life of the Japanese oak timber when properly treated.

This application brought up the interesting point as to whether or not the forest service would be allowed to undertake experiments with foreign species of timber, inasmuch as the act under which these experiments are carried on specifically requires that only American grown timbers shall be treated. The forest service has found it necessary, owing to pressure of other work, to decline to undertake this experiment, and therefore this point was not considered. It is estimated that there is a large supply of this white oak in Japan and should its use for railroad purposes prove satisfactory, it is probable that a large market will be created for it in this country.

A NEW DEPARTURE IN ADVERTISING.

In another column appears the advertisement of the Sound Legal Advice Company of San Francisco, offering legal advice by mail for fifty cents. Advertising has certainly made marvelous progress in the past twenty years. Hundreds of millions of dollars have been spent in popularizing practically everything from needles to thrashing machines. Every ill that flesh is hair to is promised safe and speedy cure in the advertising columns. By mail you may take a college course at your kitchen table. But this advertising of legal advice seems to be the latest development—and why not? Many people canot afford the regular fees of lawyers. For various reasons there are many who would hesitate to consult an attorney with whom they are personally acquainted. Many live miles from the nearest town where legal advice may be had. Conducted on square business principles, there is no reason why an association of attorneys, answering thousand of questions, should not render first-class service with substantial profit to themselves.

LOS ANGELES COUNTY BUYS A STONE QUARRY.

The county highway commission proposes to buy for the county a rock quarry near Glendora and install there rock crushing machinery for the 307 miles of roads to be built by that body throughout the county. The price paid for a eighty-acre tract is $3000 and the quality of the rock is said to be fully up to the requirements of the work. A rock which is up to the requirements of good road building is not easily found; it must possess not only hardness but a certain element of toughness which makes it pack well without being too easily convertible into dust. The stone must be tested by the "rattler" process, which consists in putting a quantity of it in a round cylinder which revolves at the rate of forty-one revolutions per minute, where it remains for three hours, at the end of which time it shall not have lost more than 20 to 30 per cent. of its weight—the rattler having holes for the escape of small particles of rock and dirt.

NOTICE.

A mass meeting of the citizens of the Glendale Union High School District will be held at the high school building Saturday evening, May 8th, at 8 o'clock for the purpose of instructing and authorizing the trustees in regard to selling the old school site located at the corner of Brand boulevard and Fourth street, Glendale, California.

Are You Going to Build?

If you are, don't start without a Plan carefully worked out, and a complete set of specifications, fully setting forth each part of the work. A set of Plans that cost you ten or fifteen dollars, if properly drawn up will save you from fifty to two hundred dollars.

If you have plans, specifications and contracts signed and recorded you will save untold trouble, expense and annoyance. My plans are complete in every detail. The specifications cover every part of the building, leaving no room for extras.

I will write your contract, see that your bond is all right, and that all papers are properly recorded; that the work is carried out according to the plans. I look after YOUR interest. My charges are reasonable, generally about two per cent. on tho cost of the building, which includes contracts, estimates of cost, looking after the work, etc. If you are going to build you can't afford to take chances for this amount.

Sketch of any style of building submitted free of charge.

My experience in building has been very extensive, and I am thoroughly conversant with all the building laws of California.

Come in and see me, it won't cost you anything to get my ideas, even if I don't make your plans.

I am at your service.
